A note on the average distance of a Graph

Rao Li*

*Department of Mathematical Sciences
Univeristy of South Carolina Aiken
Aiken, SC 29801
U.S.A.*

Abstract

The average distance of a graph G is the average value of the distance between all pairs of vertices in G. Using the results obtained by Sivasubramanian [9], we in this note present some lower bounds for the average distance of a graph.